

THE COUNSELOR'S PROFESSIONAL PERSPECTIVE

Volume 8, Issue 10
OCTOBER 2010

... from the President

To really do the job that God has called us into whether it be a Christian counselor, therapist, chaplain or serving in our churches as a leader or whatever we are called to do we must focus on the business at hand. Here is a summary of 10 Strategies for Developing a Multiplier Mindset:

1. focus on vision and multiply progress
2. focus on free time and multiply productivity
3. focus on delegation and multiply income
4. focus on relationships and multiply opportunity
5. focus on strengths and delegate weaknesses
6. focus on habits and forget about discipline for the sake of discipline (this is a breakthrough)
7. focus on cleanups and multiply energy
8. focus on values and deepen relationships
9. focus on results and transform obstacles
10. focus on capabilities and multiply confidence

Until Next Month

"Individual commitment to a group effort -- that is what makes a team work, a company work, a society work, a civilization work." ~ Vince Lombardi

... Conference Highlights

Jack Kelly . . . the object is to be a listening ear and be available to talk...being there to serve the company and its employees. Chaplaincy is a relationally based support system for organizations, from a Christian perspective

Tim Pendry . . . hospital chaplains are "first responders" to emergency situations within the hospital. We minister not only to the patient but also to the hospital staff.

Becky Harmon . . . you need to be empowered in your calling and also think about things that will set your practice apart. God cares about your business so you must care too and be the best in what you do.
